Companion to The Calm Evening Survival Guide

Print these pages. Fill them by hand. Put the agreement where everyone can see it. Do not wait for a perfect Sunday.

Inside: evening map, weekday planner, screen-time agreement, chore chart, homework log, conversation cheat sheet, survival-night card, Sunday reset, four-week calm tracker.

Every page is a 15-minute tool.

OUTCOME

Calm evenings. Cooperative children. Less chasing of tablets.

WORKSHEET 01

The evening we actually have

Fill the true house, not the house on Instagram.

Children's names and ages:

I usually walk in at:

Children are home from school / extra lesson at:

Who is with them before I arrive:

Dinner time / lights-down time:

The fight usually starts when:

If light goes, we:

One sentence: the evening problem in this house is:

WORKSHEET 02

School-night evening planner

Write real times. If you get home at 7, do not write 4:30 and then feel like a failure.

Time	Mon	Tue	Wed	Thu	Fri
Arrival / land
Homework window
House job
Screen window
Collect devices
Dinner / bath / bags
Lights down

Our evening order in one line:

Late-home trigger time (after this, we run the short evening):

WORKSHEET 03

Weekend rails

Weekends fail when Saturday morning has no job and Sunday has no reset.

Block	Saturday	Sunday
Morning house jobs
Family / church / mosque / outing
Child free time (inside minutes)
Screens allowed until
Visitors / extra lesson
Family meeting / reset

Saturday morning job for each child:

If Saturday jobs are not done, afternoon screens:

WORKSHEET 04

Family Screen-Time Agreement

Read aloud. Fill. Sign. Fridge. Point to this page instead of shouting.

OUR DEAL

In this house, phones, tablets, TV, and games are a privilege, not a right.

Screens come after the homework window and one house job.

Before a device is given, we say the minutes out loud. The child repeats them.

When time ends, the child brings the device to: _____

School-night minutes: _____ Weekend minutes: _____

Lights-down / no bedroom screens after: _____

If the deal is broken, tomorrow's minutes become: _____

Allowed: _____

Not allowed without a parent: _____

Child 1: _____ signature: _____ date: _____

Child 2: _____ signature: _____ date: _____

Parent / caregiver: _____ signature: _____ date: _____

Second adult (Aunty / Grandma / Daddy): _____ signature: _____ date: _____

● COLLECT SENTENCE

"Time is up. Bring it to the kitchen, please. Thank you for keeping our agreement."

WORKSHEET 05

House jobs chart

One job on school nights. Inspect at a named time. Screens wait.

Child	School-night job	Weekend job	Inspect time	M	T	W	T	F	S	S

Tick the day when the job was done before screens. Empty square means screens did not start.

Inspect sentence I will actually say:

If the job is undone:

WORKSHEET 06

Two-week homework window log

Tick if the window happened. Minutes. One line. Stop writing essays about your child.

WORKSHEET 07

Conversation cheat sheet

Put this in your phone notes or on the fridge. Read one line. Do not invent a sermon.

● WALK-IN

"Good evening. Bags there. Water first. I land for eight minutes. Then homework. Tablet stays in the kitchen."

● HOMEWORK

"Diary out. 25 minutes. I sit here. When it rings, we stop even if it is not finished."

● NO HOMEWORK

"Show me the diary and class WhatsApp. If there is nothing, you read for 15 minutes. Then the house job."

● HOUSE JOB

"Tonight your job is _____. I check at _____. Screens wait until it is done."

● TIME IS UP

"Time is up. Bring it to the kitchen, please. Thank you for keeping our agreement."

● STALL

"I will not hunt the bedroom. One minute. Or tomorrow is 15 minutes shorter. Your choice now."

● COUSIN HOUSE

"We are not in Auntie Titi's house. In this house screens come after homework and one job."

● SHORT EVENING

"Hard day. Bags, food, bath, bed. Screens stay in the kitchen. I love you. I am tired."

● REPAIR

"I shouted. The rule still stands. I will try that again with a lower voice."

● LOVE VS YES

"I love you. The tablet is not how I prove it. Love is not the same thing as yes."

WORKSHEET 08

Exhausted-parent card

When you walk in after 8, run this. It is not failure.

- ☐ Greet. Water. Bags in one place.
 - ☐ Food if it exists.
 - ☐ Devices in the kitchen park. No unsupervised 'just 20 minutes'.
 - ☐ Bags and uniform for tomorrow.
 - ☐ Bath. Bed. Good night.
 - ☐ Homework: note to teacher, or 15 minutes at 6:00am if it is truly due.

● SAY THIS

"Today was a hard day. Short evening: bags, food, bath, bed. Screens stay in the kitchen. I love you. I am tired."

In this house, a short evening starts if I walk in after:

The other adult who must know this card:

WORKSHEET 09

Four Sunday resets

15 minutes. Not a tribunal. What went well, what slipped, one change.

Sunday 1 date: _____

What went well:

Where the deal slipped:

One change / extra lesson / travel to plan:

Sunday 2 date: _____

What went well:

Where the deal slipped:

One change / extra lesson / travel to plan:

WORKSHEET 11

The evening order (print large)

One page. Children's eye line. Read it when the case starts.

1 LAND

Bags down. Greet. Water. Devices in the kitchen. Mummy/Daddy lands for 8 minutes.

2 HOMEWORK WINDOW

Timer on. One window. Then it ends. Even if the page is not finished.

3 ONE HOUSE JOB

Each child has one job. Screens wait until it is done.

4 EARNED SCREENS

Minutes said out loud. When time ends, bring it to the kitchen. No bedroom hunt.

5 CLOSE THE EVENING

Dinner, bath, bags, lights down. Love is not the same thing as yes.

Our minutes: school night _____ weekend _____ collect to: _____

Our short-evening trigger: if we get home after _____
